PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES AND HAPPENINGS IN TOWN.

Doings of the Various Sets in this City and Its Immediate Vicinity---The Goings and Comings and Other Items of General Interest.

Tom Mullen was sight-seeing in the metropolis Sunday.

Mrs. R. Sebastiani and family are here from the metropolis, the guests of relatives.

The different resorts in this valley are already entertaining a number of summer guests.

Geo. Engler is having a neat cottage built on his lot on the Revie tract on Napa street west.

Denny Crane of El Verano will soon erect a large theatre and dance hall as an addition to his popular resort.

Jack Laux, the well-known Northwestern Pacific conductor, who resides in Petaluma, visited his folks here Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan, accompanied by Justice of the Peace Campbell, motored to Santa Rosa on Friday of last week.

The election for city officials to be held here on Monday, April 13, promises to be a hot one for some of the offices. May the best man win.

Al Lerke, a prominent business man of San Francisco, who owns a large tract of land in the Baxterville tract, is spending the week in this valley.

Roadmaster Serres is having the county road graveled in the vicinity of Boyes Springs. "Toots" is always on the job and the roads and bridges in his district show up well.

The residence of H. H. Granice is receiving a new coat of paint. The color is white and the trimmings will be brown. Julius Poppe is doing the job, which will be a classy one.

The old fence along the right of way of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company in the rear of Fetters' Hot Springs property, is being removed to give way to a new fence.

It is rumored that Jimmie Sterling, Sonoma's live horseman, who recently went to Woodland to become a prohibitionist and only remained twenty-four hours in the town, will return to the dry territory, this time to stay.

The San Francisco Seals baseball team, which has been training at Boyes Springs the past month, left for the metropolis the latter part of last week in first-class condition. The Spokane team departed from the Springs on Sunday for its home town and will play exhibition games en route. The boys are loud in their praise of the Boyes Springs management for the fine entertainment accorded them while at their training camp there and promised to advertise this valley on their way home.

Jim Modini and a party of friends autoed to Petaluma Sunday evening.

Al. Miller, head chain man for surveyor Thos. Lewis, has been suffering from a severe earache the past week.

A number of our staunch Democrats are turning Republicans since the "dark horse" landed the Wilson-Kent plum in this town.

Mrs. S. E. Tyler of San Francisco is visiting home friends here. Her husband sailed for Panama the first of the week on the S. S. Newport as first engineer, and will be absent several weeks.

Surveyor Thos. Lewis has finished subdividing the first unit of the Waterman tract near Fetters Springs. The lots will be sold for summer residences. H. H. Eaton, the well-known real estate man of Sonoma Vista, is the agent for the company.

Great interest is being taken by local sports in the coming lightweight championship contest between Willie Ritchie and Harlem Tommy Murphy scheduled to take place in San Francisco on April 13th. It looks as if the ice cream champion will get his from the clever Irish lad.

Joe Hayden, Mayor of Verano, who recently went East to claim a fortune left him by an old-time theatrical man, was in town Monday shaking hands with his many friends here and receiving congratulatians. Joe is registered at Paul's Resort, Verano, and will remain for the summer. He carries the weight of his new fortune with class and dignity.

Baseball

The Sonoma baseball team will play the California Colts at Boyes Springs Park tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon.

SURPRISE PARTY ON LEHRKE TRACT

SOME OF THE SURPRISERS

A suprise party was tendered A. W. Lehrke by the residents of the Lehrke tract, known as the Rixford ranch, in the western foothills of the valley, on Saturday night, March 21st.

The brooder house on the ranch, 50 x 25 feet, was converted into a dance hall, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies on the tract. What, with its Japanese lanterns and vari-colored flowers the improvised dance hall resembled the Palace Hotel Court of San Francisco.

Mr. Lehrke, who is the head of the big wholesale and retail grocery firm of H. Lehrke Sons, Inc., San Francisco, and the promoter of the tract, was taken completely by surprise. Mr. Lehrke is now interested in raising fancy poultry and breeding thoroughbred stock and is a very enterprising citizen. In throwing open the Rixford ranch to settlers he has done more than his share toward boosting the Sonoma Valley and bringing a desirable class of citizens here and he is much thought of by the settlers on his tract.

A large number of residents of the tract participated in the festivities which followed the surprise.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lehrke, Mr. and Mrs. J. Geotz, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Suggs, Mr. and Mrs. J. Revie, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Felder, Mr. and Mrs. Bonard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. F. Cheeseborough, Mr. and Mrs. J. Doney, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ohlson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mocabee, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Tracey, Mesdames Wicket, Clements, Geotz, H. Writes About Bolivia and Some of Its Cities He Has Visited in His Travels Abroad

La Paz, with its 9,000 inhabitants makes a very favorable impression upon the tourist. It is the capital of Bolivia and comparatively a clean city with paved streets. A trolley car system connects the railroad with the suburb St. George. Two brothers of Francisco Pizarro, after fighting for possession for years made peace here and called the place "Our Lady of the Peace" 400 years ago. I bought an alpaca and a vicuna skin tanned, viewed the brewery, which is the largest in Bolivia, admired the flowers in the plaza and in the walks along the river where pampas grass is growing wild. The male Indian, for the greater part engaged in driving llamas and donkeys loaded with freight of all kinds, wears a cap with two side flaps to protect his ears, a poncho over his shoulders and pants slitted in the back of both legs up to the knees, exposing white drawers, which no doubt gave the idea of the slit gowns to our ladies at home, imported by some Parisian modiste, no invention but simply imitating an Indian costume hundreds of years old. Several gentlemen of La Paz inquired about W. J. Bryan, who had been a guest at a banquet given to the retiring chief of the house of Grace & Co., at the time of Bryan's visit. Each and all assured me that Bryan indulged in grape juice, i. e. French fermented, called White Seal champagne, and all wondered how he had changed since.

The streets in La Paz are very steep and a four-horse coach took me to the depot when leaving for Oruro. On this trip I made the acquaintance of a Bolivian captain of the army, who had been with the German army for 3 years, full of praise for same and speaking German fluently. He took particular pains to bring back to my memory the fact that the Bolivian band I heard last Sunday, had received first prize in Buffalo, N. Y., at the Pan American Exposition. Quite proud he was of this band. The trip of 8 hours, otherwise very monotonous, was very pleasant in his company. In Oruro, a very dirty and filthy city, I visited both tin ore mines and collected some ore and tin crystals, also witnessed a thunder-storm of terrific force. Hail-stones the size of pigeon eggs came rattling down, quite dangerous. A noteworthy custom in the hotels is that anyone occupying a room before 6 p. m. and leaving the next day at any time has to pay for two days. Kicking and arguing does not change the system. The trip from Oruro to the port of Autofagasta, no tree nor bush to be seen anywhere, occupying two nights and one day in a 10 berth sleeping car on the narrowgauge road is trying.

The tropical part of Bolivia and Peru is only 40 miles east of the lines I traveled. Tropical, because it is from six to seven thousand feet lower, and all sorts of tropical and semi-tropical fruit is offered to the traveler along the route at a reasonable price. A haul of fourteen miles is not unusual for the Indian and his donkeys.

The town and port of Autofagasta is the main shipping point of northern Chile, from which enormous quantities of nitrate of soda is shipped. A very poor port with bad accomodations for embarking, filthy streets, bad hotels, a population of 25,000, and very hot during the day is about all worth mentioning.

Then a two days voyage on the S. S. Orita, a ship of 12,000 tons capacity, plying between Liverpool and Callao, brought us to the Port Coquimbo, where I landed with a new acquaintance, the representative of the Walkover Shoe Co. We took a coach and drove to the near-by town of La Serena, where several Germans have vineyards and wineries and also a fair size brewery, and both wine and beer we sampled was of good quality. After a fair luncheon at the German Club we went aboard ship again and next morning arrived in Valparaiso.

Like coming to San Francisco from Oakland, this city appears with high bluffs in the rear, but an intelligent class of people, well-kept, clean and asphalted streets, tall ornamental buildings and good hotels give this city of 150,000 inhabitants the appearance of an European community, and the polite lady street car conductors are a surprise to the stranger. It just happened to be Lenten and for its celebration they take three days and a Sunday. Being the end of the harvest season they consider the half week also as a thanksgiving feast, and celebrate in masquerade costumes and every one seems happy.

Splendid fine stores along the two main lower streets greeted us in the morning after the holidays, and the exhibited goods come from all parts of the world. To the north adjoining Valparaiso, in fact, a suburb, though with its own municipality, is Vina del Mar, (vineyard by the sea), formerly a vineyard, and now the residential section of the bay. Splendid estates and villas are proof of the wealth of some Chilenians and foreigners living here.

South of the city are the harbor fortifications and in the rear of these is a park in which I viewed a football game.

Valparaiso was immensely damaged by a terrific earthquake on August 8th, 1906, but few if any signs of it can now be seen. In fact on February 26th, at 4 a. m., there was another earthquake, quite noticeable, I was informed, but it did not awake me.

Being compelled to come back within a fortnight, I left for Santiago, the capital of Chile, on the 27th of February.

RAMONA GRANICE WEDS E. G. LYNCH

The Nuptials Took Place in San Rafael Last Wednesday and Was a Suprise to Everybody

Miss Ramona Granice, the youngest daughter of H. H. Granice, editor of the Index-Tribune of this city, and Ernest Glenn Lynch of Ukiah, were quietly wedded in San Rafael, the Gretna Green of California, last Wednesday afternoon.

The young couple had been engaged for nearly a year and while the marriage in the near future was a certainty, but coming as it did last Wednesday it sure was a surprise to all hands round. The young folks simply slipped one over their relatives, and the agony of a house wedding was over.

The marriage license was secured in San Rafael, after which the marriage ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Angwin, pastor of the San Rafael M. E church. They were attended by Miss Georgie Andrews of this city and Mr. Garrett L. Stock of San Diego.

The bride was gowned in a navy blue crepe de chine dress and wore a white hat.

After the nuptial knot had been tied the newly wedded couple took the afternoon train for Sonoma where they received the congratulations of their many friends and relatives here.

Mr. Lynch and his young bride will make their future home in Mendocino county.

Crushed to Death by Big Boulder

Ah Gow, a Chinese quarryman in the employ of John Mazza in his quarries north of town, met a lonely and horrible death some time last Sunday. The Chinese was missed from his usual haunts and a search was instituted for him. The quarries were visited by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan, who headed a party of searchers, with the result that the lifeless body of Ah Gow was discovered lying beneath a three-ton boulder, which had fallen upon him and slowly crushed his life out. No one witnessed the accident, but as the boulder rested upon the victim's lower extremities he no doubt suffered untold agony before death came to his relief. Coroner Blackburn held an inquest upon the remains Monday, and a verdict of accidental death was rendered by the jury.

The State Wide Prohibition Farce.

State Wide Prohibition will be submitted to the voters of California at the general election to be held on November 3d next. This proposition is but another one of those fool laws sought to be put upon our statute books by hypocrital reformers, who need to be reformed themselves.

This proposition seeks to kill the viticultural industries of our fair State, in which many millions of dollars are invested. Should it become a law it would utterly ruin every vineyardist in this valley, who have invested their all in the industry. The same rule applies to every grape-growing section in California, which covers a vast area of territory.

In addition to this, State Wide Prohibition would close every brewery, winery and distillery in California, which contribute hundreds of thousands of dollars annually toward the support of the State and National governments. It would also ruin thousands of enterprises allied to those industries, and in so doing would accomplish no reform whatsoever, as prohibition, in the way of reform, has proved a flat failure wherever tried.

Of course the submitting of such a folly to the voters of California is really a joke, but just the same it behooves every man and woman voter from San Diego to Siskiyou, outside the crazy reformers, to go to the polls on November 3d and cast their ballots against the infamous proposition.

VINEBURG NEWS ITEMS

"Easy Jim" Tells in an Interesting Way all About the Week's Happenings in and Around His Section of the Valley.

Fred Batto transacted business in the metropolis Tuesday last.

A. Baccala of Sonoma was a visitor in this burg one day this week.

Mrs. Louis Klapperick is on a visit to friends and relatives in the Bay City.

P. Gravilli of the metropolis was a guest at the John Batto residence Monday and Tuesday.

Harry Andrieux was shaking hands with his many friends in this vicinity on Tuesday last.

Everyone is delighted with the copious downpour of rain. Maybe they'll be delighted to see it stop.

Miss Mary Batto returned home on Tuesday evening after several days visit to her sister Mrs. A. Figone in the bay city.

Fred and Carl Dependener of Auburn are the guests of their mother, Mrs. Carrie Dependener, at her home near Vineburg this week.

Surely the life of a "society leader" is a hard one especially when he can't "pull off" two social functions in one week. Don't you think so, Tight?

Louis Ronquie, our local painter, has just completed painting the building occupied by Adolph Rubke and his work certainly improves the looks of peaceful Vineburg.

Mesdames Louis Breitenbach and Fred Bulotti of Sonoma were the guests of Mrs. D. Colli on Thursday at her pretty home, "Birdsnest Cottage" in North Vineburg.

It was rumored this evening, April 1st, that one of Vineburg's fairest belles was joined in wedlock to one of Sonoma's prominent young men that day in Santa Rosa.

Between twelve and fifteen thousand young chicks have been hatched out in this vicinity in the past ten days without counting Buddy Batto's large flock of young ducks.

Mrs. Thos. Lentz and children, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Forni at Pleasant Villa for the last two weeks, returned to their home in San Francisco the fore part of the week.

We understand that one of our young capitalists intends to erect a number of pretty modern cottages near here in a short time to accommodate several young couple, who will throw the diamond handspring this year.

The Box Car Improvement Club will meet next Sunday to nominate a candidate for Mayor. We have learned that the Vineburg Boosters Club will put Henry Pape in the field and that Jim Small will head the Prohibition ticket.

Mayor John Murray has disposed of his property interests in Vineburg and has moved to Sonoma where he will reside in the residence formerly occupied by Mrs. M. Taylor near the El Verano bridge. Mr. Murray has many warm friends in this vicinity who wish him good luck in his new home and it surely is Vineburg's loss and Sonoma's gain.

The many admiring friends of Miss Ramona Granice in Vineburg were sorry to learn that the little comedian had resigned her position on the staff of the Index-Tribune and gone to reside in San Francisco, but all wish the little favorite prosperity in her new home.

"Our Willie," the society Adonis of Vineburg, celebrated his birthday last Monday week and among the many congratulations he received was a little stanza from our fair young poetess, Minnie Madden, which ran as follows:

Papa's pants will soon fit Willie,
Then we'll change his name to Billie;
Marry him off to Belle or Millie,
Papa's pants will soon fit Bill.

Dear Malinda:

I have read with great attention as well as admiration your kind advice in regards to the bill of fare to be served up when fair Adeline and the rest of us take our trip through space in an air ship. You seem to have an idea that we want to start a German boarding house up in the clouds, but we do not. It is only to be a honeymoon trip. The moon is alright, but the most learned scientist has failed to discover any "honey" in limburger cheese. Of course the cheese is alright in its way, but it weighs too heavy for an air ship. Pumpernickle, brextels and herring are too dark in color. We want something bright like, dear Malinda. I think cream puffs would be good as they are light, something like "our heads." Plenty time Malinda. Guess again and in your prayers remember,

EASY JIM.

Vineburg, April 1st, 1914.

Episcopal Church

When a President of the United States died during his term of office, at the time of his funeral there was a general cessation of business for a few moments throughout the whole country—the country was silent out of respect for his memory.

When the president of a great railway system died there was a cessation of business in the shops and offices of that system for a few moments at the hour of his funeral—the railway system was silent out of respect for his memory.

The veterans of the Grand Army observe a few minutes' silence at noon on Memorial Day in commemoration of the deaths of their comrades.

These are instances of the world's way of showing respect for those who died.

And yet there is no universal commemoration of the death of Jesus Christ by the great Christian world.

Multitudes of people who call themselves Christians, who believe in Christ, who honor His memory, who trust in His atoning death, fail to commemorate with a fitting respect the crucified Saviour.

At the last General Convention of the Episcopal Church a resolution was passed by the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies:

Resolved—That we recognize the inability of many Christian people to share in the custom of setting apart Good Friday as a day of public and private devotion in commemoration of the death of our Lord. In view of this fact we call upon all Christians at noon on that day to unite in at least a few minutes of special personal contemplation of Christ crucified."

In most of our large cities business will cease for a few moments on Good Friday out of respect for the memory of The Christ Who died for us.

Cannot we Christian people of Sonoma put away the cares and the thoughts of this world for ten minuits on that day giving that time to thoughts of Him Who lived and died, Who still lives, with thoughts always for us, His people.

The Three Hours Agony will be observed from noon until three p. m. at Trinity Episcopal Church. All are welcome. Come and leave at any time during the service.

On Sunday April 5, Palm Sunday, Holy Communion will be celebrated at 10 o'clock. This service will be a children's enchoris choral service with Blessing of the Palms.

Died in Salinas

Mrs. Caroline Kirkendall, mother of Richard Fussell of this city, died at her home in Salinas on Friday of last week. The deceased was a native of Iowa and had reached the ripe old age of 81 years. Mr. Fussell, who was present at the passing of his aged mother, returned home the fore part of the week.

Wedded in Santa Rosa on Wednesday

Mr. Fuller Rochet and Miss May Bosch of this city slipped quietly away to Santa Rosa last Wednesday morning, and put one over their relatives and friends when they procured a marriage license and were married. It was a complete surprise to the many friends of the youthful groom and his beautiful bride, who is one of the most popular girls among the younger set of our city.

The young couple have rented a cottage on lower Broadway and gone to housekeeping.

Birthday Party

On Saturday, March 28, little Doris Baines entertained a number of her little friends at her home in El Verano. Her birthday falling on Sunday, the day was celebrated on Saturday. Games were played and other amusements indulged in, the biggest attraction being the sand box. It was a pretty sight to see the little tots busy making pies and cakes in the sand. The table was decorated in pink rose buds and laden with plenty of good things to eat. A beautiful birthday cake with four little pink candles, lighted, was enjoyed by all. Later in the day each child was presented with a souvenir grab bag, with a gift for each child. The day passed off too soon. They all had a very jolly time and only wished that birthday parties would come oftner. It was a very tired, but merry little bunch that wended their way homeward, late in the evening. Many very pretty gifts were presented to the little hostess and her fourth birthday will be one to be longed remembered. Those present were Misses Doris Baines, Alta Weaver, Yetive Pierron, Dorthy Kirkman, Gladys Kirkman, Messrs. Norman Baines, Milton Peterson, Rolland Baines, Emmett Danieli, and Joseph Garbee.

BUSY BEE

Congregational Church

My strength is made perfect in weakness, Paul once complained because it was not with him as it was with other sinners who were worse than he was. He thought maybe that God was not giving him a square deal. He thought that his merit was not appreciated in heaven as I have heard modest men say as they referred to good people who suffered more in life than some old reprobate. Jesus could have said "This is a queer world" on the day we celebrate as Palm Sunday, but he did not. He knew more than Paul and was making perfect the strength of God in the poor reception man gave him. When Paul complained God did not take away His suffering, but He glorified himself in it and gave Paul power to bear it. Sunday morning at 11 a. m. we willl throw the light of God on this passage. Listen—The world would make no progress were it not for pain in many forms. The transgressor's way is made hard in love to the transgressor. Let Sonoma make Easter the Go-to-Church Sunday. Eat a cold dinner to do it if you must.

The Y. M. S. C. E. at 6:30 p. m. Mr. Fisk will conduct the service. We would all be as good as our heavenly Father could ask if it cost us nothing. Come and do of your own free will a self-denying act.

Sunday evening at 7:30 we will talk about tares. Some men go on tears, but I do not notice that variety on this occasion—I want to give the cure for the ordinary observation that a Christian man is no better than a sinner because he some times stubs his toe. Why don't we say "I will not be a well man because well men some times get sick." We are too sensible for that, but the nonsense about christianity you often hear. Try christianity six months and see where you are at. You made up your mind to go to church my honest minded fellow and where are you. We all need to be humble and put ourselves in the best environment and keep trying our best. There is but one thing you can always give in large doses and that is mercy. A man is qualified to be a judge only when he is well versed in love.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.
